A resolution was adopted, voting $1,000 to Gen'l M'Rae, President of the Road, in acknowledgment of the sense of his faithful and efficient services, entertained by the Company. At the request of Gen. M'Rae, this resolution was rescinded; when, on motion of Rice B. Pierce, Esq , amended by Isaac Northrop, Esq., the following was adopted: Resolved. That the salary of the President of the Company for the ensuing year be $3,000. The following resolution was also adopted : Resolved. That this meeting not only concur in the policy and action pursued by the President and Directors for the last year, but consider them entitled to the thanks of the Stockholders, for their offi-

The thanks of the meeting were tendered to the Chairman and Secretaries, and it then adjourned.

Upon the whole, the occasion was a very pleasant one. There were cheerful faces throughout the room, and a spirit of harmony and good feeling prevailed, which certainly was not marred by the announcement of the Treasurer, that gentlemen from the country could have their dividends paid that afternoon, at the office of the Company.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock, the Stockholders and others had an excursion over the Manchester Road as far as Waccamaw Lake and back. They returned about five or six in the evening. > TELEGRAPHIC ENTERPRISE .-- The enterprise of ringing the Old and New Worlds within four or five days communication with each other, through the powerful agencies of steam and electricity, is likely to be soon brought to a consummation. The capital for the Newfoundland Electric Telegraph, connecting New York with Cape Race, has already been subscribed, and the completion of the line is promised early in the comming summer. The line will be fifteen hundred mites long, one hundred and fifty miles of which will be submarine. Commencing at Cape Race, it crosses the Island of Newfoundland, thence, by a submarine line of one hundred and forty miles, crosses the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and, traversing Prince Edward's Island, by another submarine line reaches Cape Tormentin, in New Brunswick, from whence its course is direct to New York. At Cape Race a steam vacht will intercept the European and New York steamers, BETTING ON TIME.—A fine horse and buggy were gather from them the most important intelligence, and D. To Cure Hams .- As I have seen numerous receipts for curing hams, and as I have tried the annexed for several years, and found it to excel every other in my estimation, I take the liberty to send it to you, that you may publish it for the benefit of any who may be disposed to try it. By letting my ham remain in the pickle, it is less trouble to keep it than by any other method which I have found, and it keeps sweet and tender all summer.

Take a barrel, and turn over an old pan or kettle. and burn cobs, (I think the best,) or hard wood, for seven or eight days, keeping water on the head to prevent drying. Make a pickle with eight pounds of salt, six ounces saltpetre, two quarts of molasses, and three gallons of water, to one thousand pounds .-Boil and skim the pickle thus prepared. Then pack your ham in the barrels, and when the pickle is cold. pour it on to the meat, and in four weeks you have excellent ham, very tender, and well smoked Albany Cultivator.

A CASTOR OIL EPIDEMIC .- On a late trip of one of our New Orleans steamers, she was crowded with German emigrants. As might be expected, their appetite for fruit and vegetables, after a long sea voyage, was most voracious. At Selma, a short distance below the city, the boat received some 20 or 30 sacks of castor beans consigned to Mr. Blow. The appearance of the bean, 'good to the eye,' excited the cravings of the emigrants Finally curiosity and appetite triumphed; a hag was surreptitiously opened, a lengthy communication, addressed to the Editor, de- large pan full extracted, and a huge luncheon of soup nonstrating, in a style so piquant and peculiar, that prepared. In a short time the passengers in the cabin and the officers of the boat were startled by the report that the cholera, in its worst form, had broken out on deck. On going below, they found that the castor oil was doing its work. The bag lay exposed, and a large pot full of this rare delicacy steaming hot on the table. The thing was soon solved, and the the Dutch didn't know beans .- St. Louis Republican.
